TOOL #12: Quarterly Board Meeting Agenda and Recommendations

Use this agenda template to signal the board, seven to 10 days in advance, that this board meeting is important—and their insights are needed.

Advance Agendas = Board Member Trust

Phone-Book-Size Board Reports?

What kind of CEO waits until the night before the board meeting to dump on the directors a phone-book-size report, that includes buried in a thicket of subclauses and footnotes, the news that earnings are off for the second consecutive quarter? Surely not a CEO who trusts his or her board. Yet this destructive, dangerous pattern happens all the time.

Another sign that trust is lacking is when board members begin to develop back channels to line managers within the company. This can occur because the CEO hasn’t provided sufficient, timely information, but it can also happen because board members are excessively political and are pursuing agendas they don’t want the CEO to know about.

If a board is healthy, the CEO provides sufficient information on time and trusts the board not to meddle in the day-to-day operations. He or she also gives board members free access to people who can answer their questions, obviating the need for back channels.¹

Jeffrey Sonnenfeld says that effective boards must do five things:

- Create a climate of trust and candor
- Foster a culture of open dissent
- Utilize a fluid portfolio of roles
- Ensure individual accountability
- Evaluate the board's performance

Quarterly Board Meeting Agenda and Recommendations

Key Elements of an Effective Board Meeting

❑ ADVANCE MATERIALS. Agenda, reports and recommendations arrive seven to 10 days in advance of the meeting.

❑ ADVANCE PREPARATION. Every meeting is important because the advance agenda and written recommendations signal this—and unexcused absences are rare. Board members prepare—and pray—in advance and come to the board meeting on time, rested, relaxed, and ready to spiritually discern God’s voice.

❑ BALANCED CONTENT. There is a balance of: relational and inspirational; good news and bad news; due diligence and faith-stretching; action and policy; focus on the current year but also the BHAG and the Rolling 3-Year Strategic Plan; and never staff or volunteer work!

❑ STRENGTHS ARE LEVERAGED. The board chair and the CEO lead the board in leveraging the 3 Powerful S’s: Strengths, Social styles and Spiritual gifts.2

Fork-in-the-Road Decision: 2 Options to Providing Hard Copies of All Board Materials

- Option 1: Use Board Software. Select one of the many board portal applications, such as BoardEffect.4

- Option 2: Email PDFs of Board Materials. Email board materials in advance and offer to provide hard copies in a 3-ring binder format at every board meeting. Once you have used the PDF/hard copy option, you may be able to rely solely on PDFs or transition to the board software option (see Option 1).

Conduct an assumptions exercise

Rumsfeld’s Rules: Leadership Lessons in Business, Politics, War, and Life

by Donald Rumsfeld

Rumsfeld recommends four steps in strategic planning:7

- Step 1: Set the Goals
- Step 2: Identify Your Key Assumptions*
- Step 3: Determine the Best Course of Action
- Step 4: Monitor Progress Through Metrics

> “The very reason for labeling them assumptions is to stress that they are not facts.”8

“The assumptions stage of strategic planning tends to be one of the most neglected. Assumptions are often left unstated, it being taken for granted that everyone around a table knows what they are, when frequently that is not the case. The assumptions that are hidden or held subconsciously are the ones that often get you into trouble.”

> “It is possible to proceed perfectly logically from an inaccurate premise to an inaccurate and unfortunate conclusion.”9

Donald Rumsfeld

According to Policy Governance® Guru John Carver, “Governing by policy means governing out of policy in the sense that no board activity takes place without reference to policies.
